

Why Economic Development?

Contributed by JLEDC website admin
Wednesday, 20 June 2007

- Offers a strategy for interaction between the community, business, and future developers.
- Allows for a well-considered comprehensive and rational approach to development.
- Promotes a better understanding of existing and potential markets.
- None of the things we have identified to enhance our desired community values will happen without carefully guided development.